MAN MEETS DEATH IN ROW AT BETULA; LIQUOR IS BLAMED

Newark, N. J., Man Meets Death in Knockdown Fight; Betula Contractor, Charged With Murder, Released on Bail; Prisoner's Plea is Self-Defense.

Patrick O'Loughlin, Betula contractor, arrested for the slaying of R. G. Dow, Newark, N. J., contractor, was brought to Smethport last Thursday morning at 1 o'clock and given into the custody of Sheriff Robinson. Saturday evening at 7 o'clock the prisoner was recognized to bail in the sum of $5,000 by Judge Bouton. His case will be called for consideration during the October term of Court.

Sheriff Robinson stated that O'Loughlin appeared heartbroken over the tragedy and was inclined to be uncommunicative. As noted elsewhere, self-defense will be his plea when arraigned for trial.

Patrick O'Loughlin, Betula contractor, arrested on charge of murder first degree on charge of murder first degree on Wednesday afternoon. O'Laughlin is charged with causing the death of R. G. Dow of Newark, N. J., prominent official of the Western Electric Company of New York.

In the course of a "party" at O'Loughlin's quarters, early last Wednesday morning it is alleged O'Loughlin knocked Dow down, the latter falling so heavily that his skull was fractured. Death was practically instantaneous.

Deputy coroner Williams also held an inquest Wednesday afternoon, the jury finding that Dow came to his death at O'Laughlin's hands. It was found that the immediate cause of death was a cerebral hemorrhage resulting from the fracture of the skull. The autopsy was performed by Drs. Ostrander and Cummings.

While the testimony given at the hearing indicated no intent to kill, as the fatality resulted from a fist fight following a trivial argument, District Attorney Potter and County Detective Allison decided to make the charge against O'Laughlin one of murder instead of manslaughter. It has been the policy of the Commonwealth in cases of homicide to make the original charge of murder, first degree, leaving to the trial jury final determination of the degree of murder or manslaughter involved.

Mr. Dow, the victim of the fatality, was the supervisor of inspectors for the Western Electric Company, and was in this vicinity for the purpose of inspecting conduits manufactured for his company by the International Clay Products Company of Clermont. The dead man was 34 years old, and is survived by wife and two children in Newark, N. J. Mr. Dow was a graduate of Yale University.

Patrick O'Loughlin, the alleged slayer, is almost 60 years old, and has been a well known oil well contractor in the local field for several years. His home originally was in Rochester, N. Y., but for some time he has lived alone at Betula, occupying a two-room cabin.

This cabin was the scene of the festivities preceding the fatality. Seven men were said to have attended O'Loughlin's party. In addition to Dow and O'Loughlin they were: John Clay, Superintendent of the International Clay Products Company, Harry Flickinger, Superintendent of mines, and W. E. Smith, foreman of the same company, all of Clermont, and John McLeod and Henry Minier, both of Betula. All five testified at the hearing Wednesday.

According to the testimony, liquor figured more or less prominently in the entertainment at O'Loughlin's home. After the visitors had been there a short time, O'Loughlin and Flickinger are said to have got into an argument over an auto years ago and in which Flickenger figured. To emphasize his argument, O'Laughlin is alleged to have knocked Flickinger down. Flickenger and Smith then are said to have left the house and to have gone out to sit in their automobile. This first battle proved a preliminary to the tragedy, but the exact connection between O'Loughlin's alleged attack on Dow and the earlier O'Loughlin-Flickenger fight has not clearly been established. It is believed that Dow must have sought to intervene in the battle. At any rate he is said to have followed Smith and Flickenger out of the house, and to have returned about twenty minutes later. Both Dow and O'Loughlin are said then to to have prepared for hostilities, the latter striking the first and only blow.

O'Loughlin is alleged to have struck Dow heavily on the jaw, the latter falling backward, his head striking the baseboard of the cabin wall with terrific force. O'Loughlin and the men who had remained in the cabin after the first fight then carried the dying man out doors. Dr. Cummings, who lives near the scene of the tragedy was summoned, but the victim was dead before his arrival.

After Dow's death O'Loughlin surrendered to Constable, A. D. Teed, who took him to the Smethport jail. District Attorney Potter and County Detective Allison were notified and proceeded to Betula for an investigation. The prisoner, O'Loughlin was brought back to Betula from the county seat during the inquiry and after the information and warrant had been prepared he was returned to the county jail at Smethport. O'Loughlin is alleged to have admitted striking Dow, but has made no statements as to the details of the fatality. The defendants attorney is Claude Shattuck.

An autopsy performed on the body of Ray G. Dow of Newark, N. J., who was fatally injured in a fight at Betula Wednesday evening, from a blow struck by Patrick O'Laughlin of Betula, showed that the immediate cause of death was due to cerebral hemorrhage resulting from the fracture of the skull. The autopsy was performed by Drs. Ostrander and Cummings. O'Loughlin knocked Dow down, the latter falling so heavily that his skull was fractured.

Patrick O'Laughlin who gave himself up to the authorities after the tragedy is held to court on a charge of murder, first degree, being charged with causing the death of Dow.

The district attorney stated that O'Laughlin acts as if he was terrible grieved over the tragedy. He told Mr. Potter that he was sorry Dow had not killed him first instead of him killing Dow. He claims that he struck Dow in self-defense and this will be his plea when on trial," Mr. Potter said. O'Loughlin also said that Dow had a nasty tongue.

Dow was a man about six feet tall and very well developed, having the appearance of an athlete. He was a fine looking man, smooth faced and light. O'Laughlin is about five feet 10 inches. O'Laughlin, it is said, had not been drinking for ten years, but recently he had some domestic troubles and has been drinking a little of late. His family lives in Rochester.

Testimony at the hearing showed no intent to kill, as the fatality resulted from a fist fight following an argument.

The Clermont men and Dow were invited to the home of John McLeod, where there was plenty of booze and it was here that Patrick O'Laughlin invited the party to his house to hear him play the violin." The party, therefore, adjourned to the O'Laughlin shack and it was here that O'Laughlin and Flickinger had an argument about an automobile accident that occurred four years ago and in which Flickinger figured. Flickinger and Smith then left the house and went to the car in front to sit. Dow joined them and stayed about 20 minutes then returned to the house and it is said removed his coat and hat and squared off in a fighting position in front of O'Laughlin. The latter however, hit first and fast, striking Dow on the jaw. When it was found that Dow was badly hurt he was carried out of doors, and, Dr. Cummings summoned. The reason for the Dow-O'Laughlin row has not been cleared up.

Those who were inside of the house at the time of the fatality, it was shown, were busy talking and being intoxicated paid little attention to the row between O'Laughlin and Dow. All of the party had indulged freely in "moonshine," but none of the witnesses would divulge at the hearing much concerning the liquor, saying that they brought it with them.

The body of Dow was removed from Betula to Smethport and prepared for burial and then taken to Newark, the home of the deceased. A representative of the Western Electric company came to Smethport to escort the body home. Dow was a graduate of Yale University.

CITIZENS ARE PLEASED WITH RECORD LOW BID ON ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

Business men and citizens generally conversant with road building express gratification over the bids received for the building of a stretch of roadway from Port Allegheny to Bartville, which were opened Tuesday. The lowest bid, submitted by George Metzger of Emporium, Pa., was for $197,134.38—an appreciable reduction from the contracts let the preceding few years. This stretch of road is a portion of the primary route from Erie to Honesdale.

NEW MASONIC TEMPLE PLANS ARE ADOPTED

A new Masonic temple for Smethport is assured.

At a meeting of the building committee Tuesday evening the architect's plans for the new structure were approved and measures provided for entering upon the work of construction at the earliest date possible.

The committee is now considering methods of construction. In all probability announcement of their intentions in this respect will be made within the next few days.

The large plat across from the court house on West Main street has been selected as the site for the new edifice, which, when completed will be one of the most modern structures of its kind in the state.

Fifteen prisoners, the majority convicted of the illegal sale of liquor, are serving sentences in the county jail, and Sheriff Robinson and staff are kept quite busy attending to their wants.

Glass Bottle Industry Enthusiasm Wanes; Boosters Hit Hard!

Both Citizens and Blowers Fail of Proper Response; Industry Committee Hopes for Co-operation, But Halts Canvassing; Tuesday Meet Comes to Naught.

The outlook for the rehabilitation of Smethport's glass bottle industry is anything but encouraging. At the meeting of the Conopus club's committee on industry with representatives of the Bottle Blowers of Marianville and Smethport held here Tuesday afternoon, a somewhat discouraging situation was presented, in that not only did the bottle blowers fail of their expected representation, but it also was ascertained that the enthusiasm of a number of Smethport business men concerning subscriptions to stock in the enterprise was of too low an order for comfort. While the Conopus club committee reported that it had not secured the expected number of local subscribers, the bottle blowers made a similar report. Following the announcement of this discouraging state of affairs there was nothing left to do save adjourn subject to the call of the club's committee.

A number of local boosters incline to the opinion that failure of Smethport's citizens to take advantage of a really good proposition within a reasonable time has done much toward discouraging the bottle blowers, many of whom have sought work elsewhere because of this delay. It is believed, however, that the deal can yet be made, but that Smethport people must make it. While they have been untiring in their efforts to make the venture a success, the Conopus club committee incline to the opinion that the time for canvassing for stock subscriptions has passed and that it is up to those citizens who have been made acquainted with the subject to meet the request for subscriptions in a voluntary manner if they really want to make a good investment and give another industry to Smethport at the same time. What the future holds in store, no one will venture a prediction.

ANGEL OF DEATH SUMMONS SAINTLY CHRISTIAN WOMAN

Mrs. Chet S. King, one of the best known and most highly respected women of this section of the state, passed away at her late home in Port Allegany, last Thursday, following a long illness, at the advanced age of 74 years.

Funeral services were conducted at the Port Allegany home last Sunday, following which the remains were brought to Smethport for interment in Rose Hill cemetery. For the reason that a good Christian woman—one fitted for her, manifold excellencies of mind and heart—had entered the great beyond, the last sad rites were very impressive.

The life of Mrs. Chet S. King entered largely into the history of Smethport and vicinity and has left an impression which time will be exceeding slow in effacting. Born in the state of Maine, she came to Northwestern Pennsylvania when a child of 12, her parents, with two of her uncles, Charles and Enoch Dolly, taking up their residence in Port Allegany. Here she remained until she met and wedded Mr. King, who took his bride to New York City, where they lived for two years. Shortly after their return to Port Allegany the Kings removed to Smethport, where Mr. King served first as Sheriff and later as superintendent of the county farm. During her several years residence here Mrs. King became identified with the Episcopal church, in which she proved herself an indefatigable worker. Because of her untiring interest and painstaking effort in everything having to do with social and spiritual betterment, she won for herself the love and esteem of everyone with whom she came in contact. In 1894 the Kings returned to Port Allegany, this time to make it their permanent home—and here it was, in the little town she loved so well, Mrs. King passed away.

Although a terrible sufferer during the last eight months of her life, she bore her burden with Christian fortitude, with ever a smile and kindly word for all who called; and when her gentle spirit winged its flight to the God who gave it, there was left the assurance of a soul well fitted for everlasting reward.

Besides her husband, two daughters survive, they being Mrs. John Walters and Miss Elizabeth King, both of Port Allegany.

GLASS WORKS WITH 150 MEN IS BUSY AGAIN

The Camp window glass factory of Smethport started up with a whirl Monday night at the midnight hour following a shut-down of many month's duration. One hundred and fifty men, a large number of whom are skilled mechanics, responded to the call to work, and the management gives the welcome assurance that this number will be increased at an early date and from time to time until the plant is working a maximum capacity.

Orders are plentiful at the plant and prospects for continued business for an indefinite period excellent. The resumption of the plant marked the first important break in local circles toward prosperity, which is slowly but surely setting in all over the United States. Reports of the early resumption of other local industries are current, and the belief prevails that ere another month rolls around practically every plant in this section will be humming.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Larson of Smethport were called to Jamestown, N. Y., Tuesday, by a telegram conveying information of the death of Mrs. Larson's sister, Mrs. F. A. Schelander. While particulars of Mrs. Schelander's death are meager, enough was learned to state that she was killed by a bolt of lightning while engaged in closing a window of her home during a storm last Sunday morning.

McKEAN COUNTY INCLUDED IN NATIONAL PRESERVE OF FORESTRY ASSOCIATION; CONVENTION OPENS SESSION THIS WEEK

June 29th, 30th and July 1st, the Pennsylvania Forestry Association, in connection with its northwestern branch, will meet in Warren to discuss matters of importance to the State, and especially to those living in the valley of the Allegheny river. The meeting is open to all. Every forward-looking citizen is expected to be present.

The purpose of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association is of especial interest to Smethport and McKean county, in that a national forest within the borders of the state, of which McKean county will be a part, is soon to become a reality. Already plans are being laid by the federal government to purchase a tract of several hundred thousand acres in this section of the state, and it is the intention to make it one of the largest, most productive of Uncle Sam's Eastern national forest preserves.

The new forest is located within the counties of McKean, Warren, Forest and Elk. The primary object is to restore the forest cover, removed by years of unscientific exploitation, to properly conserve the new growth and, in a measure, at least, to remove the menace of floods, which foresters aver are primarily due to despoiling hills and valleys of the timber growths.

In addition to the great conservation that federal purchase and control will entail, the construction of numerous modern highways also is planned. One in particular, the Allegheny Way, will prove a connecting link with the Pittsburgh-Franklin highway and will open these most unusual preserves, consisting of State parks, National forests and old Indian reservations, to Pittsburgh—a motor trip over improved highways of five or six hours from the "Switzerland of America," to the nation's greatest industrial center. In fact this highway will form the connecting link of a north and south highway, of easy grades, from Pittsburgh to Buffalo and Rochester, N. Y.

While it is impossible to portray the marvelous possibilities of this great work in the columns of an ordinary newspaper, be it sufficient to say that the Allegheny Highway Association, which is rapidly apbership, is not only taking a vitally active part in the enterprise, but has awakened zeal for the cause throughout the Allegheny valley entire.

According to Emory C. Cook, secretary of the association, Pennsylvania has 14 million acres of land fit only for forestration, and yet it is importing five-sixths of its lumber. The federal government, he says, is now purchasing some 400,000 acres of cut-over lands along the Allegheny water shed in this and adjoining counties, at prices between $2.50 and $3.75 per acre, adding that "the government is open-minded to the plan of scientific conservation, while people generally have been apathetic while magnificent forests have been stripped and denuded". Therefore the purpose of the convention, which opens June 29 at Warren, is to show the natural advantages and the national importance of the plans under consideration both for ourselves and posterity.

The sessions of the convention will be held at the Strand theatre, Warren, beginning Thursday, at 10 a. m. The program, in part, follows:

Thursday, June 29th

OLEAN DAYLIGHT MURDER IS SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

Joseph Morabito, Italian, 40 years old, of Olean, N. Y., was shot down and instantly killed by an unknown assassin, about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The murder was witnessed by several people but the killer escaped. The sheriff's department is conducting a country search.

Morabito, employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, was on his way home when attacked. He was shot five times.

It is said that the slayer after the shooting straightened up and came down with full force against Morabito's skull with the butt of his revolver. Before his escape he made signs over the body which are thought to have been significant of a secret order.

PLANS BIG CELEBRATION OF GLORIOUS FOURTH.

An elaborate program has been prepared for the third annual American Legion convention to be held at Port Allegany, July 2, 3, 4, and 5, with an especial number for the Glorious Fourth. Practically every popular amusement and entertainment is on the bill, together with an old-fashioned barbecue, parachute drop from an aeroplane and moving pictures on the public square. The boys promise a perfect whirlwind of fun and recreation every hour of the four days' celebration. The list of prize awards is perhaps one of the best ever offered for a similar event.

TAKEN TO BRADFORD HOSPITAL YESTERDAY.

Millard Peterson is in the Bradford hospital suffering from a fractured leg, sustained Wednesday afternoon, when he fell from a walking beam of an oil derrick on the Phoenix company's lease near Mt. Jewett.

The injured man is a resident of Mt. Jewett, sole son and support of an aged mother and was employed as a pumper on the oil lease. Wednesday afternoon he went out on the large timber, known as the walking beam, in the course of his work to fix an adjuster. It is reported to The Republican that the beam broke from its fastenings and that Peterson was precipitated head foremost to the derrick floor. The distance of his fall was about 10 feet.

The injured man was hastily conveyed to the home of Dr. A. A. Van Slyke, and attended by that physician until the leaving of the B. R. & P. at 5:10 o'clock when the patient was conveyed to the Bradford hospital where an examination with the aid of the X-ray has revealed the fact that the man's back is broken.

The nature of the injury is of course very serious and grave fear is entertained, although unless the fracture is a very serious one there is a chance for at least partial recovery.—Kane Republican

AUTO HITS DEEP RUT: 4 YOUNG FOLKS HURT.

A party of people miraculously escaped serious injury and possibly death when shortly after midnight last Friday a Ford coupe, occupied by Francis McQuade, Walter Scott, Helen Engstrom and Claire Bickle returning from a dancing party at Wilcox, ran into a tree near Dahoga when the car which was running in a bad rut became unmanageable. The occupants were taken to their homes in Kane where Miss Engstrom is suffering from a fractured arm and Miss Bickle received a severe bruise over the left eye. The young men escaped major injuries and all are suffering more or less from the shock. The coupe was damaged considerably.—Kane Republican

BOY OF 14 DROPS DEAD AT HIS MOTHER'S FEET.

"Mamma, I'm shot", cried Lawrence Hull, aged 14, as he staggered across the street to his home in Olean, N. Y. last Sunday afternoon and fell dead at his mother's feet. The accident happened when Lawrence and his little brother Raymond, aged 12, were playing with William Rounds, aged 14, across the street from their home. The Rounds boy, it is said, was loading a revolver, when it exploded accidentally. The coroner issued a certificate of accidental death. The dead boy was the eldest son of Mrs. Seth Hull, a widow.

EAST SMETHPORT CLOSES A THREE WEEKS' REVIVAL

The three weeks' series of special meetings which has been held in the United Brethren church at East Smethport came to a close Sunday evening.

The pastor, Rev. A. L. Pang, has been assisted by Rev. Mr. Chase of Rew, who preached the Gospel in a forceful manner and a great deal of good has been done. A few conversions were recorded and the church as a whole built up.

The choir was faithful and helped greatly toward the success of the meetings. Special delegations were present from Farmers Valley many evenings, also some from Rew and Sawyer City.

On the closing night communion service was held. A special offering was taken for Rev. Chase, to show appreciation of the splendid service rendered.

Regular services will be held each Sunday as follows: Sunday school at 11 a. m.; Christian Endeavor at 7:15; Preaching at 8:00 o'clock. Everybody welcome. Prayer meeting Thursday at 8:00 o'clock.

The Civic Improvement club of East Smethport will give a masquerade payement dance Saturday night for the benefit of the Keating township honor roll. The Smethport band will furnish the music and refreshments will be served.

Sophia Rand Post of the American Legion of Johnsonburg, plans to celebrate the Fourth on a grand scale this year and promises the biggest parade and entertainment in the history of Elk county.

How did your neighbor's last bargain tire turn out

PROBABLY you know at least one car-owner who is always on the look-out for the cheapest tires he can find. He likes to get them by mail or at a sale or at some place where they have big red bargain signs over the door.

It would be fine if he could get "the edge" in every tire trade.

But the dealer can't afford to let him have it.

Even if a man saw any slight percentage in tire shopping at all—it disappeared when the "Usco" brought the price down.

A standard product—and the dealer sells it with pride.

A good tire. The dealer has no desire to trade you into a larger profit for himself.

United States Tires are Good Tires

Copyright 1922 U. S. Tire Co.

An out-in-the-open tire. The dealer sells you confidence, not price. He wants you satisfied with performance and value. The only way he knows to get your business is to deserve it.

This is the "Usco" idea.

Compared with the ten-minute thrill of the bargain appeal, the "Usco" is just plain common-sense.

LIGHTNING PLAYS HAVOOC IN MT. JEWETT, TUESDAY; CITY BUILDING STRUCK.

During a heavy electric storm which centered over Mt. Jewett Tuesday evening, lightning played many peculiar stunts with the municipal building. The tower of the hose house, a part of the city building, was struck, shingles thrown 50 feet in every direction and one side of the lining of the tower burst and was reduced to kindling, no piece exceeding four feet in length.

Fourteen large window panes were blown out and small pieces of glass thrown full 100 feet. The band, which occupied a room on the second floor, was practicing at the time, and as if to notify the members of such unearthly sounds, a bolt flashed across the room, tearing the paper from a strip of the ceiling, leaving a sulphuric smell and filling the room with smoke. No one was injured. The wash room, however, was a dismal looking affair, plastering being torn off and a hole knocked through the wall, which connected it with the tower.

At the instant of the bolt a ball of fire entered the Commercial hotel and rolling over the floor visibly shocking the guests. It disappeared as mysteriously as it came. With all damage done, however, no fire was started.
